

Federal Funding Disclosures

The Stevens Amendment is a federal law found in H.R. 6157 that requires funding information to be included on all projects or programs using federal funds. It is intended to provide transparency for taxpayers and ensure federally funded research and work are properly credited.

This webpage explains how the San Joaquin County Workforce Development Board (WDB)/San Joaquin County Employment and Economic Development Department (EEDD/WorkNet) uses federal grant funds to support its programs and initiatives.

Grantee and Subrecipient Requirements

All award recipients must acknowledge federal funding in documents that communicate funding, such as press releases, requests for proposals, bid invitations, and other documents describing projects or programs funded as a whole or in part with federal funds. This includes funding from the U.S. Department of Labor.

Documents that communicate funding may include:

- Award Announcements
- Bid Solicitations
- Marketing materials (PowerPoints announcing funding)
- Press Releases (communicating funding, announcing a new activity or program with funding)
- Social media content (communicating funding, announcing a new activity or program with funding)
- Website content (communicating funding, announcing a new activity or program with funding)
- Contracts
- Annual Reports
